President's Message

By Joan Olson

November 2022

Fellow Curly Members,

Happy Thanksgiving to All.

We need to be reminded of how fortunate we are in our lives and our horses. Many other folks have never been able to own a horse, never known the communication that runs between a horse and its owner. That feeling one gets when the horse accepts your touch. Sometimes we tend to forget that horses are not machines but living, breathing animals that can hurt and react to that hurt by unknowingly affecting its owners. Let's all take a step back when a horse acts out and assess the situation. There have been plenty of times for me when a horse reared or kicked and bucked and I thought it was just a mean horse. Finding out later that they had something going on that was hurting them when asked to perform, makes you feel guilty about not taking the time to vet the horse for injury or analyzing the farrier's work. Little things add up to how well the horse moves and acts for its rider. It would be so much easier if they could talk and tell us what was bothering them!

So with that, I wish to send out good thoughts and prayers for one of our Board Members. Her husband was involved in a freak accident and lost his lower arm. He is recuperating and doing well. I wish I was closer to her so I could go over and help with their Curly Horses. Marion, we love you!

Take Care Everyone,

Joan Olson

Any other website questions asked of the Board.

Shawn Tucker inquired about adding a new Region, Central and South America?

Mel Martino said Curly Horses Registered from South America and Caren Schumann is the District 9 Representative for Europe, Australia, and the Remaining Continents.

Further Discussion needed on future calls.

Genetic talk by Diane Mitchell to be addressed in Member Meeting.

A question about doing a new Stud Book, which is not needed Mel says, Database is being used and supplies the necessary information.

Stud Books are basically just a numerical list of the registered horses.

Breed Reports, Mel Martino stated People are not turning in their Mare and Stallion reports and asked about doing away with the fees, but it was noted that we need to list the fees for the people to see regardless of intentional nonpayment.

ABCR Convention 2022

Pre-Convention Meeting Call (2/2) submitted by Joan Olson

Angie Gaines has joined the Call Meeting.

Is Zoom the Future, Mel stated the ByLaws say we have to meet, is Zoom okay? Do we have to change the ByLaws? Can we expect anyone besides the Board attending?

Marion suggested promoting an in-person convention but if there are no sign ups 1-2 months before, we will go to the Zoom format. Mel stated we can just change the Rules and Regs and not worry about the ByLaws change for a Zoom meeting.

How do we bring new blood to the Registry? Mel stated the office is in good hands with Kelli, but she is worried about the Future of the Registry. We need to get more information out there to people about the importance of registering their Curly Horses.

The Finance report was stated and gone over by Mel Martino. There is a copy of that posted on the website if members wish to see.

Motion made by Sue Davis and seconded by Mel Martino to adjourn the Call at 12:04 pm.
Motion carried.

Diane Mitchell's Report on Curly Horse Genes.

There have been 2 in depth studies done with Youtube video explanations on the genes from Dr. Mitch Wilkerson.

Diane states some of the facts and finds of Mitch's study.

Mutation of the gene is not a bad thing, a version of an existing gene, adaptive advantageous.

Many mutations for Curly coat, not one specific curly gene.

A horse can have 2 mutations simultaneously, there are dual gene Curly Horses.

All horses have hair genes, and I am talking about the mutations of the hair genes in the Curly Horse.

KRT25 found in the North American wild horse herds, Curly Missouri Foxtrotters have the SP6 gene.

Different combinations of the Curly gene discussed such as,

Unknown Curly Gene a, (UCGa) very important, when combined with KRT25, partially bald.

UCGa by itself has top of the tail is thin, bottom of tail is poofy.

Extreme is not bald, it is Homozygous KRT25, Bald is KRT25 and unknown gene.

Site of unknown Curly gene hair site not found yet, maybe the KRT6 site.

Cook gene unidentified yet, KRT25 found in the wild, SP6 has never been found in the wild.

ABCR Convention 2022

ABCR Convention Membership/Breeder's Meeting (2/3) submitted by Joan Olson

Diane's Gene Combination handout.

(+/-) KRT25 & (+/-) Sulphur = unknown

(+/-) KRT25 & (+/-) Cook = unknown

(+/-) KRT25 & (+/-) SP6 = acceptable combination

(+/-) SP6 & (+/-) Sulphur = unknown

(+/-) SP6 & (+/-) Cook = unknown

(+/-) KRT25 & (+/-) UCGa = bald patches

(+/-) Cook & (+/-) UCGa = unknown

(+/-) SP6 & (+/-) UCGa = unknown

(+/-) KRT25 & (+/-) UCGa = total baldness

Curly Gene is dominant if the horse has it, it shows.

Dilution means if breeding straight hair horses to Curlies, the number of straights will increase gradually, and the Curly gene will disappear.

Diane then discussed the what the DNA letters mean and how they are matched up from the Sire and Dam's DNA for parent verification. Mel mentioned how the ABC finds parent verification through DNA from the ABC's Database.

Diane said that Ancestral DNA is type verification not blood verification.

The KRT25 shaft is Curly and the SP6 follicle is oval.

2 straight parents can have a curly foal because they can pass on the ability for the foal to have the code traits for mutation of the gene. This has been seen in different breeds.

Mitch says breeding Dual gene Curlies could have a disadvantage but could take several years down the line to see what that holds. Could be an advantage, too soon to tell.

Ancestral DNA shows similar domestic traits to breeds in their background if they are clustered in the type. Fish Creek and Cook genes are Damele type.

Dr.Mitch will do a Youtube video this fall concerning the genes and typing.

Breed types together, gaited, dressage, western stock. Dr. Mitch says this will develop your own breed.

They are all Curly horses. Most breeders who know this will breed type to type.

Inbreeding is not the answer. Smooth coated curlies can be worth their weight in gold with the ability to pass on the curl. If you have a heterozygous stallion, you could still end up with a straight. If you have a homozygous stallion, you will get a curly from a straight curly mare.

ABCR Convention 2022

ABCR Convention Membership/Breeder's Meeting (3/3) submitted by Joan Olson

Diane takes questions, with the information now there is nothing set in stone. ABC breeders are type breeding already, Dr. Mitch is basically informing new breeders about typing their curlies when they breed.

As a Registry we must be cautious with this information. We can't make people breed correctly.

We can as a Registry, promote articles about doing research on breeding the curly gene. People who are serious about the Curlies will do their research and find out before they get involved with purchasing a Curly horse. Finding a quality horse can be a learning experience for most people.

Angie then suggested to have a program for the breeders to have a criterion for curly breeders for them to get a certification. Mel then said ABC has a Breeder's License already that is purchased through the ABC Registry. Most of the registered breeders of the ABC know their Parentage of their stock and breed responsibly. Most of the unregistered breeders out there that do not know their horse's parentage and apply to the Registry for parentage that can or cannot be found but still breed regardless of what is found.

Mel then stated the Registry is still looking for young people that are willing to help the Registry.

Marion brought up new business on adding a Curly Pony book, will be discussed on next conference call. Right now, they are being registered in the Outcross book.

Angie made a motion to adjourn, Sonja seconded, Meeting adjourned at 11:30 AM.

Does your horse have an unknown future?

By Angie Gaines, Golden Curls Ranch

He nickers softly in your ear as you slide the saddle gently onto his back. A trail ride is just the thing he can offer to relieve your stress and he does it without hesitation. Then one day your number is called and he no longer has an earthly partner. In fact, his world is turned upside down as he is trailered to a stock sale, then onto a trailer to be delivered to a large lot with many horses who once had a partner just like you. Does this sound sad? Well, yes, but it is reality for so many wonderful horses of all breeds. So often we forget that our equine friends rely on us for everything. Without our call to the vet or farrier they would not be vaccinated or trimmed. We buy their feed and hay so that they never worry about their next meal. But, if we are gone who will do those things? We hope our friends and family are able to step up but often times they are unable to for various reasons and so your beautiful brown eyed friend has a future entitled "unknown".

As we begin to plan for life's transition we can find opportunities to help our equine friends. I have taken out a life insurance policy specifically for my horses. It will help those who I trust to make sure they are feed, vetted and in a good place. The first step is to talk with family members and friends. It can be insightful to find others have not even thought about their horses future. We can make arrangements for others to take our horse to live with them but make sure you speak with someone who knows the laws in your state as horses need paperwork to transfer ownership especially if someone feels there is a value to them. "Legally a horse is treated as any other chattel or item of personal property, so unless the will specifically deals with the horse it will form part of the main estate and be inherited accordingly. If none of the beneficiaries wants the horse the executors have to make some tricky decisions. The horse might be valuable, in which case obviously it can be sold and the proceeds divided among the proceeds. But horses tend to lose their value after they get to 15 and can become a liability." Explains Probaters, Stanford Gate, 1st Floor, South Rd, Brighton BN1 6SB on their website <https://probaters.com>. Hogdson Russ law firm in Albany, NY explains; "If owners do not take appropriate steps to provide for their horses, the consequences can be dire. Without a will, your horse will become the property of whoever is entitled to inherit from you in accordance with state law. So like so many horses whose owners did not make a plan end up with the unknown future.

In addition to my solution of getting an insurance policy to help my family continue to care for my horses many owners find a trust a great tool. A trust is a written instrument that is recognized by the courts and can be written as part of your will or created during the lifetime of the horse owner, which is known as "inter vivos". The trust should have written instructions for who you would like to provide care for your horse sometimes known as a "horse guardian". The trust is funded to allow the horse guardian to pay for the horses' health, food and lodging. "When selecting your "horse guardian," you ideally would want a person who currently owns or has cared for horses in the past. The horse guardian will care for your horse in accordance with your instructions set forth in the trust. When preparing the trust, you should carefully consider the cost of care for your horse, and fund the trust accordingly" shares Hodgson Russ, Attorneys. Their website is a wealth of information, <https://www.hodgsonruss.com>.

Addressing these issues has brought me peace of mind. No, it is not a fun task but a little planning can make a huge difference for your horse, your forever partner.

Note, each jurisdiction has different laws regarding probate so please check with your local laws before making a binding legal instrument.

Today's FAQ

HOW CAN CURLY HORSES BE DESCRIBED?

The ABCR Breed Standard describes an American Bashkir Curly as being on average 14 to 16 hands and weighing 800 to 1250 lbs. The head is of medium size with a well-defined jaw and throat latch. The eyes are wide set with eyelashes that curl up. Ears are short to medium in length with curls inside. The neck is of medium length and deep at the base where it joins the shoulder. The back is noticeably short and deep through the girth. The legs are heavy boned with short cannon bones as compared to the forearm. They have a curly coat in wintertime and generally display a notable gentle disposition.
